

ELSEVIER

Marine Micropaleontology 26 (1995) 479–480

MARINE
MICROPALEONTOLOGY

Contents Volume 26, 1995

Preface	1
A conceptual model explaining benthic foraminiferal microhabitats F.J. Jorissen, H.C. de Stigter and J.G.V. Widmark	3
Microhabitats of salt marsh foraminifera: St. Catherines Island, Georgia, USA S.T. Goldstein, G.T. Watkins and R.M. Kuhn	17
Depth estimation by proportions of living larger foraminifera J. Hohenegger	31
Do benthic foraminifer records represent a productivity index in oxygen minimum zone areas? An evaluation from the Oman Margin, Arabian Sea P.D. Naidu and B.A. Malmgren	49
Radionuclide dates and foraminiferal accumulation rates: examples from submarine canyons M. Young, J.W. Murray and I.W. Croudace	57
Recolonization by deep-sea benthic foraminifera: possible substrate preferences H. Kitazato	65
Larger agglutinated foraminifera of McMurdo Sound, Antarctica: Are Astrammmina rara and Notodendrodes antarctikos allogromiids incognito? S.S. Bowser, A.J. Gooday, S.P. Alexander and J.M. Bernhard	75
Benthic foraminifera from the Fernando de Noronha Archipelago (northern Brazil) A. Levy, R. Mathieu, A. Poignant, M. Rosset-Moulinier and D. Ambroise	89
Diatom symbionts in larger foraminifera from Caribbean hosts J.J. Lee, J. Morales, A. Symons and P. Hallock	99
Cytological examination of symbiont loss in a benthic foraminifera, Amphistegina gibbosa H.K. Talge and P. Hallock	107
Impacts of storms on Recent planktic foraminiferal test production and CaCO_3 flux in the North Atlantic at 47°N, 20°W (JGOFS) R. Schiebel, B. Hiller and C. Hemleben	115
A hypothesis for the origin of fibrillar bodies in planktic foraminifera by bacterial endosymbiosis O.L.O. West	131
Fertility tracers and monsoon forcing at an equatorial site of the Somali Basin (Northwest Indian Ocean) C. Vergnaud Grazzini, M.T. Vénec-Peyré, J.P. Caulet and N. Lerasle	137
Occurrence and distribution of the foraminifer Ammonia beccarii tepida (Cushman) in water bodies, Recent and Quaternary, of the Dead Sea Rift, Israel A. Almogi-Labin, R. Siman-Tov, A. Rosenfeld and E. Debard	153
Sessile foraminifera of the Hawaiian Archipelago: a preliminary survey B.L. Burch and T.A. Burch	161
DNA analysis of " Ammonia beccarii " morphotypes: one or more species? J. Pawlowski, I. Bolivar, J. Farhni and L. Zaninetti	171
Phylogenetic incongruence between dinoflagellate endosymbionts (Symbiodinium) and their host foraminifera (Sorites): small- subunit ribosomal RNA gene sequence evidence M.R. Langer and J.H. Lipps	179
Taphonomy and time-averaging of foraminiferal assemblages in Holocene tidal flat sediments, Bahía la Choya, Sonora, Mexico (northern Gulf of California) R.E. Martin, M.S. Harris and W.D. Liddell	187

Stepwise postglacial migration of benthic foraminifera into the abyssal northeastern Norwegian Sea U. Struck	207
Oxygen and carbon isotopic composition of Recent larger and smaller foraminifera from the Madang Lagoon (Papua New Guinea) M.R. Langer	215
Foraminiferal assemblages from bottom sediments at Marian Cove, South Shetland Islands, West Antarctica S.-K. Chang and H.I. Yoon	223
Latest Quaternary foraminifera and sediment transport in Pervenets Canyon, Bering Sea S.W. Starratt	233
Pleistocene agglutinated foraminifera from the Lomonosov Ridge and Amundsen Basin, Arctic Basin. Initial report on piston cores 2177-5 (KAL) and 2176-3 (KAL) J.R. Evans, M.A. Kaminski, T.M. Cronin and D.K. Fütterer	245
Foraminiferal sequence biostratigraphy and seismic stratigraphy of a tectonically active margin; the Yakataga Formation, northeastern Gulf of Alaska S.D. Zellers	255
Biostratigraphic and paleoclimatic significance of a new Pliocene foraminiferal fauna from the central Arctic Ocean M.W. Mullen and D.H. McNeil	273
Late Oligocene–Early Miocene foraminiferal biostratigraphy and paleoenvironments of the Maibong–Jagdi Area, North Cachar Hills of Assam, India D.C. Rao	281
Neogene biofacies in eastern Venezuela and their calibration with seismic data J. Moreno-Vásquez	287
Biomtry of early Oligocene Lepidocyclina from Kutch, India P.K. Saraswati	303
Larger foraminiferal assemblages from Oligocene platform carbonates, Jamaica: Tethyan or Caribbean? E. Robinson	313
Aspects of the post-Cretaceous recovery of the Cenozoic planktic foraminifera A.J. Arnold, W.C. Parker and S.P. Hansard	319
Biostratigraphic implications of the Maastrichtian–lower Eocene sequence at the North Gunna section, Farafra Oasis, Western Desert, Egypt M.R. Abdel-Kireem and A.M. Samir	329
Differential patterns of benthic foraminiferal extinctions near the Paleocene/Eocene boundary in the North Atlantic and the western Tethys N. Ortiz	341
Multiple deep-water sources and trophic regimes in the latest Cretaceous deep sea: evidence from benthic foraminifera J.G.V. Widmark	361
Campanian Bolivinoidea and microfacies from the La Luna Formation, western Venezuela L.M. De Romero and F.A. Galea-Alvarez	385
Aptian to Maastrichtian paleobathymetric reconstruction of the Eastern Venezuelan Basin M. Carrillo, I. Paredes, J.A. Crux and S. De Cabrera	405
Cretaceous foraminifera from the Mandawa Basin, southern Tanzania: preliminary results A. Karega	419
Lower Cretaceous benthic foraminifera from DSDP Site 263: micropaleontological constraints for the early evolution of the Indian Ocean A.E.L. Holbourn and M.A. Kaminski	425
Codonofusiella (Fusulinidae): Shell architecture and its functional meaning U. Leppig	461
Foraminiferal zonation of late Paleozoic depositional sequences C.A. Ross and J.R.P. Ross	469

